

what you need to know about php.

factfile.

Creator: Rasmus Lerdorf

Released: 8th June 1995

Current version: v8.2

Use cases: Databases,
web and cloud
servers

78.8% of the world's websites rely on PHP. That's a total of more than

912,000,000

sites, including...

4,923

live
vacancies

Almost 5,000 UK roles require PHP skills, according to ITJobsWatch.

spoilt for choice.

PHP was named TIOBE's Language of the Year back in 2004 but it remains among the world's most popular programming languages, with a community of over 7 million coders.

money matters.

Entry-level Developers earn an average salary of £35,000, before rising to

£52,500

at mid-level, and £70,000 for Senior Developers.

That's a

19%

increase on last year's average PHP Developer salary.

